Hunt A Killer – The Moon Summit Mystery

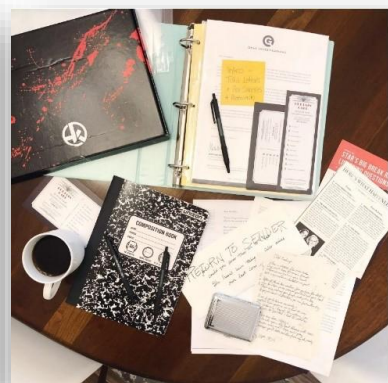

Test your skills and escape to victory!

A captivating team building activity based on the popular physical game series. Your team will investigate the case of Toby Mendia, a graduate student who died under suspicious circumstances during a scientific expedition in Moon Summit Park, Alaska. Unravel clues, solve puzzles, and work together to uncover the truth behind Toby's death.

How it Works:

Teams dive into the Moon Summit Mystery by examining evidence, solving puzzles, and unraveling clues related to Toby's death. Using the provided materials and resources, teams collaborate to piece together the puzzle and gather information to shed light on the case. Each step of the investigation unveils new challenges and hidden secrets, requiring critical thinking, problem-solving, and effective communication within the team.

By combining their individual strengths, attention to detail, and analysis skills, teams progress through the adventure, uncovering connections, and developing theories. The activity is designed to engage participants in an immersive experience that simulates real investigative work, keeping the adrenaline pumping and the team on their toes until the truth is revealed.
